THINGS A WOMAN WANTS FROM A MAN

1. FEAR OF GOD: The first and most vital characteristic that every woman wants in a man is the fear of God. Show me a man that has the fear of God in him and i will show you that man that will go extra miles to make her woman happy despite all odds.

2. HONESTY: Honesty is an integral part of every relationship. Every woman wants an honest man in her life,

If you're not about to trust your man, you don't have a relationship! Men, tell the truth, all the time, no matter how bad it may be. We'll love you for your honesty!

3. FINANCIAL SECURITY: "We want you to be financially secure". Among the top turn-offs for women are guys who live off others – whether family members, friends or partners. A man who is not gainfully employed will rarely attract a smart, well-adjusted woman and only those who are psychologically drawn to losers. Similarly having your own place and car are signs that you are a responsible adult and are not only capable of taking care of yourself but also of providing for a family, which is ultimately what women have been hard-wired to look for in a potential mate since the primitive times.

4. GOOD SENCE OF HUMOR: A lively sense of humor is apparently the biggest draw when it comes to women looking for a dating partner. A man who can laugh away the blues is not only fun to be with when the going is good but is actually quite a blessing to have around when the sun does not shine so bright and the chips are down. What's a man without a good sense of humor? Boring, that's what! Sing her a song, tell a joke, do whatever you have to make her laugh, because if you don't know how to make or take a joke, a long, happy relationship is probably not in your future. "We want you to be fun" A lively sense of humor is apparently the biggest draw when it comes to women looking for a dating partner. A man who can laugh away the blues is not only fun to be with when the going is good but is actually quite a blessing to have around when the sun does not shine so bright and the chips are down.

5. INTELLIGENCE: Those women dig intelligent guys' needs little elaboration. Even though this does not mean that you have to quote realms from your college dissertation or explain the finer points of quantum physics but not coming up with a "duh" every time she wishes to have an intelligent conversation will work wonders for your relationship. For women, the brain perhaps is the sexiest part of a man and few things turn her on as a witty repartee or an intelligent remark. So the next time your girlfriend invites you over to her place, beat her at Jeopardy and watch what happens. Men like to talk about what they know, and actually, women like to hear it. Intelligence is one of the most attractive characteristics in any man. We want you to amaze us with your extensive knowledge about electrical circuitry!

6. CARING AND ROMNTIC: All women love their guys to be romantic and caring. Often times we shy away from this topic because we feel it does not really matter so long as there is love, but the fact is that it matters a lot in relationships. Every woman wants that man that will heal her emotional wounds with a spice of romance and care. Women love hearing those romantic words from their man, it gives us reassurance and builds our trust in the relationship. Those caring words make us smile and forget our worries. Remember whatever you give a woman she multiplies it and gives you back in quantum.

7. VALUES: “We want guys that have values.” No matter what your particular philosophy in life is, if you have certain convictions and are willing to stand up for them, women will respect and love you the more for it. Values like sincerity, generosity, compassion and doing well by others will never go out of fashion. Indeed as society becomes more self-centered and materialistic, these ideals will be valued even higher. The same goes for good manners and the daily courtesies. Pulling out a chair for ladies or helping the elderly to cross the road are not simply evidence of a chivalrous nature but show that your heart's in the right place.

8. HARD WORK AND DETERMINATION: Without being told men should know that ladies love hard working and determined men. Women want a Man who doesn't give up a challenge but works hard to see every challenge to a successful end. Being able to step out of one's comfort zone to take risks is such an important characteristic because it really makes life interesting. Determination is an interesting attribute to find in a guy. It shows he has a positive outlook on life. Negative people just bring others down with them and no woman wants a man who will make her sad and depressed.

9. GOOD LOOKS AND STYLE: Every woman wants a man who is good looking. This makes ladies feel so proud of their men. They don't mind introducing you to the whole world in one day. They are ready to go any where with you and show you off to their friends. Most guys are not actually good looking but they have a way of looking outstanding and making a mind blowing statement with their dressing and appearance.

10. LASTLY REMEMBER CLEANLINESS IS NEXT TO GODLINESS: "No matter how nice or rich or smart you are, if you don't put in a decent level of effort in your appearance, women are unlikely to have anything to do with you, especially if you are looking for a nightcap. So go back to the basics of personal hygiene and every now and then take a tip from the metro sexual male. Even though not every woman wants a Greek god on her arms, she definitely wants and expects her partner to look well-groomed.⁸ Seriously, women can spend up to an hour each day making ourselves look pretty for you. Well we want the same respect back!

Your physical appearance is important! We don't want to be seen with a slob! Please, take some time and work on your appearance!
